

Resources

Douglas County Sheriff's Office

The Douglas County Sheriff's Office is founded on the principles of service, integrity, respect, courage, compassion, and caring for others. With a staff of over 135 dedicated men and women, we are committed to providing professional law enforcement services through well-trained staff, technology, crime prevention and a results-oriented, proactive approach to public safety. Visit their website to learn more about the Sheriff's Office.

South Coast Interagency Narcotics Team (SCINT)

The South Coast Interagency Narcotics Team, priority is to deliver quality and dependable services to the citizens of Coos, Curry and Western Douglas counties. SCINT provides both enforcement and education to keep our neighborhoods safe and as drug free as possible. Visit their website to learn more.

Crime Victim and Survivor Services

Oregon Department of Justice Crime Victim and Survivor Services Division (CVSSD) connects many different programs with a single goal: to serve victims effectively and compassionately. We fund statewide victim service programs, help victims cover crime-related costs, and through our advisory committees and partnerships, we help shape best practices statewide and bring a diverse collection of voices to the issue of victims' rights. Visit their website to learn more.

National Center for Missing and Exploited Children

As the nation's resource center for child protection, the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) spearheads national efforts to locate and recover missing children and raises public awareness about ways to prevent child abduction, molestation, and sexual exploitation. A private, nonprofit organization established in 1984, NCMEC operates under a Congressional mandate and works in conjunction with the U.S. Department of Justice's Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI)

The FBI is a field-oriented organization in which FBI Headquarters in Washington, D.C., provides program direction and support services to 56 field offices, 400 satellite offices, four specialized field installations, and more than 40 foreign liaison posts. The priorities for the FBI are to protect the United States from terrorist attacks, espionage, foreign intelligence operations, cyber-based attacks and high technology crimes, corruption at all levels. Visit their website to learn more.

Central Intelligence Agency (CIA)

The CIA's mission is to support the President, the National Security Council, and all officials who make and execute the U.S. national security policy. The CIA engages in research development, and deployment of high-leverage technology for intelligence purposes. As a separate agency, the CIA serves as an independent source of analysis on topics of concern and also works closely with the other organizations in the Intelligence Community to ensure that the intelligence consumer-whether Washington policymaker or battlefield commander-receives the best intelligence possible. Visit their website to learn more.

Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)

CDC works hard to make people safer and healthier. By charting decisive courses of action, collecting the right information, and working closely with other health and community organizations, CDC has been putting science into action to tackle important health problems since 1946. The CDC plays a critical role in protecting the public from the most widespread, deadly and mysterious threats against our health today and tomorrow. Visit their website to learn more.

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF)

ATF is a law enforcement agency in the United States' Department of Justice that protects our communities from violent criminals, criminal organizations, the illegal use and trafficking of firearms, the illegal use and storage of explosives, acts of arson and bombings, acts of terrorism, and the illegal diversion of alcohol and tobacco products. We partner with communities, industries, law enforcement, and public safety agencies to safeguard the public we serve through information sharing, training, research, and use of technology. Visit their website to learn more.