Mayor Linda McCollum said that at a recent conference she learned of an activity that another City is pursuing to encourage Community Involvement. It is basically a Citizen's Academy that is held over several different days for a couple hours at a time. The citizens engage in activities and tours that teach them about what it takes to run a City. She said that she would like to look into doing this with Council and staff oversight.

She also asked to look into how City's like Eugene have created a City-wide free WiFi.

City Manager Jonathan Wright said that he will update the list of objectives and distribute to staff with the goal of returning it to Council at a future City Council meeting.
